1 person has recommended Kevin

"Kevin is a highly skilled Program Manager. He is a great collaborator and works well with his cross-functional team to ensure that projects are developed on cost, schedule and exceed the required performance levels. He utilizes his PMP skills to ensure that his team is working on the critical path activities and developing a product that exceeds management's expectations. I would highly recommend Kevin and I believe that he would be a great asset to any organization interested in improving its ability to develop successful consumer products."
